The Junior League of Hartford Announces an A-List Roster of Designers for 2022 Designer Show House
Presented by exclusive media partner, CTC&G (Connecticut Cottages & Gardens)

Led by the Junior League of Hartford, renowned interior designer and Show House Honorary Design Chair Anthony Baratta, and CTC&G Editorial Director, DJ Carey, 16 designers will transform a historic home in West Hartford into a showcase of luxury design for modern living

WEST HARTFORD, CT (May 11, 2022 )—The Junior League of Hartford (JLH) today announced 16 interior and landscape designers who will collaborate with JLH to produce the 15th Designer Show House presented by exclusive media partner CTC&G (Connecticut Cottages & Gardens), held for the first time since 2018. The Designer Show House is typically produced every three years, but was postponed from 2021 to this year due to COVID restrictions. The home will be featured editorially in the July/August issue of CTC&G and on cottagesgardens.com.

The Designer Show House is the preeminent fundraiser for the JLH, and features a select group of interior designers, artists, and landscape architects who are hand-picked to renovate, restore and reimagine the interior spaces and surrounding grounds of a notable home in the greater Hartford area. This year's Show House is located at the beautiful residence of 51 Brookside Boulevard in West Hartford.

"This home is the ideal blueprint for designers to translate their style and aesthetic into the way people live today. The pandemic has shifted design away from the "great room" that leads with a similar design style throughout each space, and more towards the traditional, historic home footprint with smaller rooms that can be both multi-functional but also offer respite from other areas of the home. I love the idea of seeing maximalism and color in one room but a very different style in another. With a historic home, designers really have an opportunity to show their personalities," said Anthony Baratta, legendary designer and Show House Honorary Design Chair.

The featured designers and landscapers announced today are:

- Camden Grace Interiors, Hartford
- Dana Ferraro for Molly Patton Design, Fairfield

"We are looking forward to shining a light on the Hartford design and cultural scenes in our summer issue," says DJ Carey, Editorial Director of CTC&G. "The capital region has always been on our radar for its rich architectural history. In fact, in 2011 we were lucky enough to lead the redesign of the Governor's Residence. We are delighted to be back and part of this exciting project that highlights so much local talent."

The sentiment is echoed by Whitney Sweeney, who co-chairs the Designer Show House for the JLH. "This project has always been a unique opportunity to highlight the talented designers and artisans right here in the Hartford area, as well as further afield. At the end of the day, we are able to leverage the creativity, talent and generosity of the design community to fund some of The League's most important community initiatives - and the visitors get to come away inspired. With the partnership and support of CTC&G, Tony Baratta and our sponsors, we hope this is one of our most successful Designer Show House fundraisers to date.”

The Designer Show House will celebrate its grand opening on June 3, 2022 with a special evening fundraiser from 6-9pm. Public house tours begin Saturday, June 4, 2022, and run through Sunday, June 26, 2022 on select days and times. A Gallery for Good, featuring original art by local talents, will also display art throughout the house to raise additional funds for JLH.

Tickets for opening night, house tours, and special events are available online through Eventbrite and on the JLH website. Online presale tickets for Show House tours are $25 until June 2, 2022, and $40 at the door.
